Unique, United Lyrics

Through all our days
We will remember this Community
Of excellence, which is
Drawn from the Muses
And each continent
Unique, united
Masterpiece in motion.
Many are one
Converged through love of art
The head, the hand
And certainly the heart.
Now face to face
And then in memory
Unique, united
Masterpiece in motion.
Vision and courage
To surmount the tests
That come with joys,
With challenges and quests,
Here taught and learned
A circle without end
Unique, united
Masterpiece in motion.

Founded in faith
That it would be the best
A global family
That has been blessed
Built for today
And for those yet to come
Unique, united
Masterpiece in motion.
Unique, united
Masterpiece in motion.

Haley Vaughn

B.F.A. ILLUSTRATION

Salutatorian

After completing an undergraduate degree in 2019, Haley Vaughn worked as a middle school American Sign Language (ASL) interpreter for several years, feeling at home but creatively unchallenged. In 2020, she began drawing in her free time — and found her future. Vaughn attended SCAD Day in Atlanta and was hooked, enrolling at SCAD in 2022 to pursue another bachelor's degree and a career in illustration. Vaughn's background in interpreting written and auditory information into a visual language translated seamlessly into her illustrations.

Creating with humor and whimsy, Vaughn earned a 2024 Gold International Design Award in print and poster and a place in the 62nd Annual Society of Illustrators LA. Through SCAD, she has met talented groups of artists and designers, many of whom she had the pleasure to work with as a muralist for SCADpro's Butler Street CDC project. She expanded these connections in additional real-world opportunities: as a Coca-Cola mural finalist for The Kimpton Brice Hotel, completing a mural for Atlanta fintech company Payroc, and designing an electrical box mural for the City of Smyrna.

SCAD encouraged Vaughn to venture into several industries in addition to public art. She won the 4D Beyond the Dot Award, opening her to work on student animated films like Holey Moley and Fairy Play, and surface-designed patterns for the Haus of Deeran in the 2025 SCAD Fashion Show, which resulted in a Swarovski Crystal sponsorship. The exploration allowed in SCAD's curriculum helped her to find her new career as a production designer for Strottman International Inc. At Strottman, she helps design children's programs for Chick-fil-A and Lowe's Home Improvement.

Vaughn plans to stay in the industry for a while before returning to the classroom to encourage the next generation of artists to trust their gut and tackle the impossible.

Kalina Richardson

B.F.A. GRAPHIC DESIGN

Valedictorian

Kalina Richardson's path into design was never about a single medium—it was about shaping experiences. At SCAD Atlanta, she has built a practice rooted in spatial storytelling, branding, and large-scale environmental design, using creativity as a tool to connect people to place.

During her time at SCAD, Richardson has taken on a range of leadership roles and real-world projects that pushed her work beyond the classroom. With SCADpro, she served as design lead with the Atlanta Host Committee for the 2026 FIFA World Cup, helping shape a cohesive branding system and signage across downtown Atlanta. She led signage design for AIG's Atlanta Innovation Hub, managed experiential design for Sweet Auburn Grande, and directed a 140-page annual publication for Georgia Entertainment, all opportunities that strengthened her ability to think at scale while staying detail-oriented. Richardson's ability to lead complex, high-impact projects is matched by her commitment to community and collaboration. As president of AIGA SCAD Atlanta, she has created space for emerging designers while contributing to the program's culture.

After graduation, Richardson will move to Dallas to join Corgan, an internationally recognized architecture and design firm known for its user-centered approach and technical expertise, as a brand and graphics specialist. She looks forward to continuing her work at the intersection of branding and the built environment, designing experiences that help people navigate, connect with, and thrive in the spaces around them.

Randall Swoopes II

M.F.A. INTERACTIVE DESIGN AND GAME DEVELOPMENT

Excelsus Laureate

Backed by a spirit of collaboration inherent in most of his work, Randall Swoopes II built the confidence in his creativity and leadership at SCAD. Coming from a high school experience where connections felt limited and days often left him tired and disengaged, SCAD offered a completely different experience, filled with energy, creativity, and a sense of belonging. Supportive professors and a vibrant community of fellow students, helped him embrace new opportunities and push personal boundaries.

At SCAD, Swoopes discovered the power of genuine collaboration across disciplines. After the COVID-19 pandemic, he revived the SCAD Atlanta Game Club as president, welcoming various gamers, hosting numerous events and tournaments, and building a culture of creative collaboration. This leadership earned him the SCAD Honeybee Award for outstanding achievement and advancement of the club.

While a student, Swoopes contributed to several team projects, including working as gamification lead on a SCADpro and MGM virtual onboarding developed in Unreal

Engine, contributing as technical director and lead technical producer on the M.F.A. thesis film Super Protector, and taking on Q&A and documentation roles for the game Epochrypha. One of his proudest accomplishments was co-creating a full video game with classmates that was successfully published on Steam.

During his master's program, cross-disciplinary work on the university's LED volume stage, particularly in collaboration with film and television majors, sparked a bigger vision. These experiences led Swoopes to found Reality Zero, a multimedia production company dedicated to bringing together talent from game design, film, television, and other disciplines to create impactful projects.

Swoopes has always been driven by the belief that the best creative work happens through human connection and shared ideas. After graduation, he plans to grow Reality Zero into a thriving company and build collaborative spaces where emerging creatives from different fields can connect, experiment, and bring ambitious stories to life.

Mace

The mace has a notable history dating back to the Middle Ages when it was used as a weapon carried by a bodyguard to defend a person of authority. Today, its purpose is ceremonial, serving as a symbol of authority of the university's president, as designated by the Board of Trustees. The mace design for the Savannah College of Art and Design was created in 2003 by a group of faculty, staff, and alumni to serve as a tribute to the creativity, vision, and dedication that define SCAD. Fashioned from sterling silver and reclaimed heart pine from the former Central of Georgia Railway sheds behind Clark Hall in Savannah, the mace acknowledges the past while anticipating the future. The use of sterling silver symbolically celebrates a dedication to education and the arts, while the durable heart pine is a testimonial to the solid foundation of SCAD and its prolific branches of study and development.

Inspired by the seal of the university, the motif of the acorn was selected as an essential design element to represent the concentrated potential for greatness within each member of the SCAD community. The armillary sphere introduced at the apex of the mace connotes the university's global network, while the rosette has nine petals representing the artistic and scientific inspiration of the nine muses. The new mace created for Savannah was handcrafted by SCAD alum Seth Carlson (B.F.A., metals and jewelry, 2007). The mace honors the contributions of all past graduates of SCAD, as well as the bright promise of the class of 2026.
